These works will enhance accessibility along the paths, removing barriers, to use and improve opportunities for residents and visitors alike to access and enjoy the countryside. CCC is also keen to learn of other local access improvements that could inform future projects and works. CCC endeavours to identify points of interest along the circular route, with the aim of including these on interpretation panels placed at certain locations. CCC invited the Community Council to contribute to the production of the panels and asked for suggestions re the content that is, interesting and engaging facts/stories about local industry, culture, built and natural heritage that can enthuse and inform walkers. Whilst CCC will endeavour to include suggestions into the panels, there is no guarantee that all will make it into the final designs. - 8.4 Ceredigion Electoral Arrangements from May 2022
The Local Democracy and Boundary Commission for Wales has undertaken a review of the electoral arrangements for all Unitary Authorities in Wales. The Commission published its final recommendations in May 2019 and recommended a Council of 38 Cllrs, a reduction from the present 42 members, with a county average of 1,384 electors per member.

It also recommended 34 electoral wards, a reduction from the 40 existing wards. The Minister for Finance and Local Government issued a Written Statement in September 2021 accepting those recommendations. The Minister Made the Order on 11th October 2021, which will come into force on the ordinary day of election of councillors in 2022 i.e., 5th May 2022 The County of Ceredigion (Electoral Arrangements) Order 2021. The changes are summarised as follows: A reduction of Councillors from 42 to 38; A reduction of electoral wards from 40 to 34; There are 18 changes to electoral wards in all; There will be 4 multi-member electoral wards. Full details of the changes are available on the Local Democracy and Boundary Commission for Wales website Ceredigion Final Recommendations | LDBC (gov. Wales). Changes to the County Council Electoral Ward has no effect on Town and Community Council boundaries but there are some electoral wards which combine parts of a warded community or town. These are the Aberystwyth Town Council and Dyffryn Arth Community Council. Tregaron and Ystrad Fflur (Gwnnws Uchaf and Caron Uwch Clawdd) Wards will merge.

8.5 Pentir Pumlumon Tourism: “Things to do Panels” to advertise activities in the area. It was agreed to ask whether it would be possible to display a panel on the Pantyfedwen Hall Grounds.

8.6 Dafydd Llywelyn, Police and Crime Commissioner for the Dyfed-Powys area, stating that it is important that he can represent communities in making decisions linked to local policing services. To do this effectively, it is necessary to hear from the Community Council, as community representatives, on various policing matters. The policing priorities for 2021-2025 are set out in his Police and Crime Plan, in which he is committed to ensuring victims are at the heart of every decision, with a specific focus on understanding victims’ views, taking trauma-informed approaches and looking at community-based solutions. His Draft Police and Crime Plan is accessible here: <https://www.dyfedpowyspcc.org.uk/media/11000/draft-plan-10.pdf>.

Feedback from the public and community representatives, together with research and assessments of local needs, resources and priorities have enabled him to set out policing priorities for local communities. Set out within the Plan is his overarching vision for 2021-2025, for the communities of DyfedPowys to be: safe places to live and work; where people, particularly victims, are supported to build resilience; and trusting and confident in their policing and criminal justice services.” At this stage, it is important that he checks back with the public and partners to see whether they agree that his draft policing priorities will ensure his overarching aim for the communities of Dyfed-Powys will be achieved. He is also in the process of establishing the budget for local policing for the 2022/2023 financial year as the Police await the Government’s Police Grant settlement. Whilst the Chief Constable will assess the priorities, pressure, and investment requirements to keep communities safe, it is important that he consults with residents and business owners as part of the budget setting process so that the police precept level can be set. A public consultation has therefore been launched, which will ask residents and business owners to consider his draft policing priorities alongside their contribution towards local policing. The survey closes on 30 November 2021. It was agreed to display on the Community Council’s website and Facebook.
